INSURANCE DISCLOSURE

International shipping contains inherent risks that cannot be removed, examples of these risks include (but are not limited to): loss or damage due to inclement weather, fire, mishandling, piracy/theft, sinking, collision, jettison, General Average and many other potential hazards. Risk cannot be dismissed from logistics planning. Carriers, freight forwarders and other vendors limit their liability in the event of a loss and will pay very little in claims. While risk is always going to exist, you can manage the risk by insuring your cargo against loss or damage with Steam Logistics.
